Elizabeth Power

Change Management through storytelling is Elizabeth Power's special gift. Updating the "porch stories" she heard while growing up in the South, Power tweaks their message to help corporations and employees cope with new circumstances and learn to be "in charge" of change and other current issues.

Power knows that downsizing, layoffs, corporate take-overs, and mergers are here to stay. "There ain't no such thing as security," she preaches. "Give it up! Exercise the one thing you've got — choice!" The message goes down like honey, but the impact is, well, powerful. And audiences love her!
